

The latest version of “The Spirit of Jezebel” is always available for FREE download at www.Low-Carb.us

The Spirit of Jezebel

A practical study-guide for Christians learning how to fight the Jezebel spirit in end-times

Satan’s Jezebel spirit is an unrepentant rebel, a haughty enemy of God, His prophets and His people.

Jezebel is arrogant, pride-filled, self-righteous - a seductive, self-proclaimed “goddess” and prophetess.

Queen Jezebel is once again active in our society - in our churches, business, in families and in government.

(This painting is an accurate depiction of Queen Jezebel)

Find a dynamic addendum to (or news about) “The Spirit of Jezebel” at <http://thejezabelspirit.blogspot.com/>

Revelation 2:19-26 (This is a message to the church of Thyatira, from the Son of God ... Jesus Christ, the very reason we, His followers, call ourselves Christians) "I know all the things you do – your love, your faith, your service, and your patient endurance. And I can see your constant improvement in all these things. But I have this complaint against you. You are permitting that woman – that Jezebel who calls herself a prophet – to lead my servants astray. She is encouraging them to worship idols, eat food offered to idols and commit sexual sin. I gave her time to repent, but she would not turn away from her immorality. Therefore I will throw her upon a sickbed, and she will suffer greatly with all those who commit adultery with her, unless they turn away from all their evil deeds. I will strike her children dead. And all the churches will know that I am the one who searches out the thoughts and intentions of every person. And I will give to each of you whatever you deserve. But I also have a message to the rest of you in Thyatira who have not followed this false teaching ('deeper truths', as they call them – depths of Satan, really). I will ask nothing more of you except that you hold tightly to what you have until I come. To all those who are victorious, who obey me to the very end, I will give authority over all the nations."

The 'Adultery' mentioned here is not only as it relates to sexual sin, but (very importantly) it relates to spiritual adultery, loving other god's as well as and/or instead of Yahweh. It pertains to any dalliances with "mother-nature" or "goddesses" or anything like that. That becomes clear when we look at exactly what it was that angered God about Ahab's wife, Queen Jezebel. So Jesus' main complaint against this church is that they tolerate the Jezebel spirit, which tries to tell them that it is leading them to "deeper truths". Jesus does not mince words, calling these "truths" exactly what they are – "depths of Satan". So what do we say to those in churches that say abortion is "OK" and who say homosexuality is no big deal, and who even ordain bishops who are openly living in gay relationships? What do we say to churches who suddenly start finding "deeper truths" to teach, who embrace "mother nature" and all other religions and call themselves "new-age" etc. Well, for starters, we could remind them that once, for centuries, they were bastions of Christianity, and very instrumental in sending missionaries to the far corners of the world and spreading the Gospel – and that now, by pandering to a few special interest groups, they are in very real danger of leading as many or more people astray than what they ever lead to the truth. Clearly there are some amongst them who are still faithful, but they tolerate and do not actively oppose the spirit of Jezebel in their churches – even elevating it to a prophetic leadership roles. We really do not have to look far for the "church of Thyatira", it is all around us, in fact for many people it is their father's church - and that of their forefathers.

This study guide is based on information gleaned from Nita Botzenmayer's "The Black Widow Spider Spirit", Francis Frangipane's "The Three Battlegrounds" and "The Jezebel Spirit", Fuschia Pickett's "The Next Move of God", Scott Peck's "The people of the lie", Jonas Clark's "Jezebel, Seducing Goddess of War"; for a Catholic view, an excerpt from Mother Nadine's "Desert Warfare and from our own encounters with this spirit - that experience having been gained the hard way. The Bible's description of Jezebel's reign over Israel through her weak husband and two of her sons, as well as her fight with Elijah, are key to this study, so here is a short paraphrased summary/commentary) of the Bible account of Jezebel:

Jezebel was an evil person who fought against everything that represented God! She married Ahab, king of Israel, who "did more to provoke the Lord God of Israel to anger than all the kings of Israel that were before him", for Ahab not only "Married Jezebel, the daughter of Ethbaal king of the Zidonians" he converted to her religion! Then she ruled Israel using Ahab as her front-man - her puppet.

Given that Jezebel was a Baal worshipping foreigner - an abomination in the eyes of God, this was bad news! The main characters in the life of Jezebel were all affected in one way or another by her evil deeds. She brought down God's curse on her entire family - hardly what a mother and wife (and person) should be doing. She totally controlled and manipulated her children, her husband, her friends, her priests and her subjects. Ahab was a weak willed man whom she completely dominated and led to do much evil (1 Kings 21:25). She encouraged him and all of Israel to worship idols, while she personally made sure all the prophets of God (who she could catch) were killed. (1 Kings 18:4) She took good care of the prophets of Baal - giving them direct access to the throne. (1 Kings 18 and 19) Jezebel's domination of her husband was directly responsible for the whole nation of Israel falling into the sin of idolatry - as a result Israel suffered a terrible famine caused by the lack of rain - God's judgment on an very unfaithful nation. (1 Kings 17) When Elijah (in one of the most dramatic encounters in the Bible) killed all the prophets

[The Death of Jezebel - by Gustav Doré.] of Baal at Mount Carmel, Jezebel soon got after him. She vowed to take his life! Elijah knew this was no empty threat and ran for his life. This mighty prophet of God, who raised the dead and who had called down fire from Heaven - and who easily makes Indiana Jones look like a wimp, soon became afraid and even quite depressed because of Jezebel's action ... to the point that he actually begged God to let him die! The spirit of Jezebel is so very intimidating and frightening that it led this mighty prophet of God to sit down under a broom tree in the desert and say "I've had enough Lord, take my life; I am no better than my ancestors" and with that he lay down under the tree and fell asleep. So, here we find a very good biblical reference to depression. Any of you ever struggle with depression? You may want to read (1 Kings 19). Jezebel not only worshipped idols (1 Kings 18) but also practiced witchcraft (2 Kings 9:22). She portrayed the broadest spectrum of the forces of darkness of any biblical woman ever. Shakespeare's Lady Macbeth could have learned a thing or two from her. Why? Well for starters she did similar things - and much more! There was this man Naboth who owned a vineyard, and Ahab wanted it - but Naboth refused to sell the king this piece of his family's property. So Ahab got depressed and took to sulking just like some spoiled child. Jezebel intervened (behind the King's back) and had Naboth killed (rather deviously) simply to meet Ahab's selfish needs. As King and Queen, it was hardly imperative that they own yet another vineyard! The Vineyard in question was just a toy for Ahab - it was a very much valued family property, with memories, inheritance rights and income, for Naboth. At this point Jezebel herself was in charge of the nation of Israel and Ahab the supposed king of Israel, was simply her hand-puppet. (1 Kings 21) If Jezebel were alive today, she'd make an excellent Mafioso - given her approach to real estate transactions. But her greater crime was promoting her Phoenician religion at the expense of the God of Israel - the one true God. Jezebel was quite a religious enthusiast though - some 450 priests of Baal ate at her table. Ever known such "pretentious religious" people who were just plain rotten - evil to the core? Well (regrettably) I have, they do exist! God eventually sent Elijah to declare judgment on Ahab and Jezebel. Ahab was to die and have dogs lick up his blood, and his descendants (sons) would be cut off from the throne of Israel (1 kings 21:17-22, 1 kings 22:29 - 40, 2 kings 10). As for Jezebel, she was to be eaten by dogs and her remains were to be 'scattered as dung on the face of the earth' (1 kings 21: 23-28, 2 kings 9: 30 - 37). God's judgment caught up with them both, as prophesied, first Ahab and then Jezebel. However, she lived for quite a while before God's judgment caught up with her. Apart from idol worship, witchcraft and sheer wickedness, she also used the spirit of domination and seduction to get her evil way. (2 kings 9:30) She was a beautiful woman. There's no record of Jezebel ever repenting, and in her life she did much evil. The main lesson from her life is never to envy the workers of evil, no matter how well they seem to be doing. Evil people often do live long. Our merciful God gives them every reasonable chance to repent, but destruction waits for them if they do not. In the end, for all of her evil, she ended up (as prophesied by Elijah) - as 'dog food' and 'fertilizer' (2 Kings 9:36-37), with no recognizable part of her left to enshrine. God completely wiped her, her sons and her prophets off the face of the earth! Some of her daughters survived. You may wish to read the story of one of the daughters of Ahab - Athalia (2 Kings 11) to see what a horrid person she was! She killed all but one of her grandchildren and almost destroyed the Messianic (Davidic) bloodline from which Jesus was to come. She installed herself as Queen and ruled for several years but ultimately was foiled by a very courageous woman, Jehosheba, who was her niece, and the surviving (Davidic) grandson was made King. It just goes to show, out of Ahab's family came good ... and evil. We all have a free will and can chose to do good or evil. But, unfortunately, the spirit of Jezebel (and Ahab) lives on and every now and then we see or hear of another 'Jezebel and Ahab' somewhere ... they make a very cohesive and powerful ruling team together, but he is likely just the front man for her ambitions. Seen any examples lately? Maybe even (from time to time) ruling the most powerful modern Empire on earth? But why anyone (after reading the story of Jezebel) thinks evil pays is simply beyond me. She gives new meaning to the phrase "Short term (lifetime) gain ... for long term (eternity) pain". This is certainly not a person to emulate! So much potential ... but what a complete and utter failure! It could have been so different though. Ironically there is biblical evidence that Ahab did repent (1 Kings 21:25-29) The original contemporary name of this foreign queen of Israel is attested to on a ninth century scarab as Yzebel which means '[Baal] is prince'. However it is also written as a Hebrew word which sounds almost identical, but which means something very insulting, Ayzebel which means 'Where is the Sh--?'. Given her sorry end, the connection between this name and the last sentence in (2 Kings 37) becomes readily apparent: "the corpse of Jezebel will be like dung spread on the fields, so that no one will be able to say: This was Jezebel." This indeed happened. However brace yourselves ... she has returned. Jezebel did commit the unforgivable sin - she never repented of her wickedness and is today in Hell, forever, but the "spirit" that drove her, is one of the most useful in Satan's horde of evil spirits, and it is now unleashed on us and multiplying fast! For Queen Jezebel, there was no state funeral, no shrine and most everyone (except the seriously twisted, her new followers) thinks of her as a failure - as a person, as a woman, as a wife, as a mother and as a queen. The fact that she so firmly believed in what she was doing and that she thought the way she was acting was absolutely "right" does not make it so. God tells us what is "Right" and "Wrong" - it's not the other way around. It is not pleasant for me to discuss Jezebel. If you read between the lines of her story in the bible (Kings 1 and 2) then you will quickly see that as a Queen of Israel, she looked far more "regal" than what she deserved, for in reality, she was Satan's woman - unflinchingly dark, evil. She really was the feminine version of Hitler, except that she had the opportunity to destroy the Israelites "from within" by turning them to worship "the Baal's" instead of God. As with Hitler, she stayed totally evil right to her end, not bending not even a little - just thoroughly, proudly, determinedly and religiously evil. This person brings disgrace to women, and I'd like to think of her as an imposter - some kind of alien, but certainly not as a woman. She definitely was no lady! Imagine then, meeting and falling in love with the daughter of someone very similar to Jezebel (right down to the Naboth incident and more) and becoming part of her family. For our family this is, sadly, a true story. Jezebel’s are downright dangerous, totally self-absorbed, manipulative, extremely overbearing and a law unto themselves - and they hurt a lot of people! My advice is simply this: “Don’t be one, don’t hang out with one. Do learn to counter them!” Either way, contact with Jezebel hurts “like hell” (that’s where it’s being directed from) and could destroy you, your church or family, if you are not educated and prepared. Jezebel’s sexually provocative image is due to Hollywood’s 1938 movie “Jezebel”. Her real “infidelity” was against God, however her “religion” definitely was sexually immoral. Much as I truly admire Elijah (who did much to “counter and contain” her) it was Jehu who destroyed her. Round 1: Elijah vs Jezebel was a tie – broken by Jehu. Round 2: Elijah (John the Baptist) vs Jezebel (Herodias) was a set-back. Round 3: Elijah (you+us) vs Jezebel (“deeper truths”) is underway. According to Revelation, it’s going to get extremely nasty before it’s over!

Unmasking the evil embodied within “The Spirit of Jezebel” (version: 10-Mar-2012)

Have you ever encountered “Jezebel“? So, you leave home one fine day ... smiling, happy, carefree, and then you meet with a friend, boss, co-worker or relative, leaving you feeling physically, emotionally and even spiritually drained, depressed, zombie-like? Ever been hurt by someone who simply refuses to acknowledge the hurt they caused you and who goes to great lengths to avoid (ever) saying that they are (truly) sorry and even when forced to do so, does so in a very disingenuous manner? Have you ever encountered rejection, jealousy (of you, your family or your material wealth) or an attempt to manipulate and control you by criticizing you, your life, your beliefs, your family? Have you ever had anyone try their best to undermine the authority of your husband or come between a wife and husband and even between parents and children? Have you ever had a message delivered to you that left you feeling apprehensive and fearful? Have you ever felt “used” by someone, then simply tossed aside, physically or emotionally? Have you ever met a religious (even seemingly deeply spiritual) person who tried to convince you of their “Superior spiritual status” and that rather than relying directly on God and Jesus, they will guide and counsel you – in other words “trust me, I’ll take care of your problems and you”? Have you ever had someone “probe your soul” looking for weaknesses, asking you if you are unhappy – even trying to convince you that you are unhappy or that you should be? Have you ever said “NO” to someone and watched as they over-reacted, rejected you and tried to “bully you into submission”? Perhaps you have even had someone actively (aggressively) wish evil (bad things) for you and or your loved ones? Perhaps they have even told you (seemingly prophetically) that something bad WILL befall your husband, you or your children? This is called a “curse” by the way, and is the exact opposite of a blessing. Have you ever encountered someone who displayed many of the following characteristics: Proud, arrogant, power-hungry, who “bucks true authority”, seems to be unaccountable, viciously attacking those trying to hold them accountable, seductive, often openly envious of others, bitter, resentful, often murmuring and complaining, not easily satisfied - regardless of the many extraordinary things people often do for them, unrelenting, remorseless, unrepentant, lacking in humility and the recognition that ALL of us are imperfect beings, often plotting and scheming, very manipulative, controlling, quite intelligent, man-hating, selfish, jealous, critical of others, bossy, back-stabbing, who has a tough time making and keeping friends, is emotionally cold, always attempts to keep you “off-balance”, never giving you their approval, making their “love and/or caring” conditional, a perfectionist with impossibly high expectations of others, unable to acknowledge the pain they cause you or others?

Well, if you have experienced these things, then it is quite likely that you have encountered one of Satan’s most effective operatives ... “The Jezebel spirit”. Jezebel can work through friends, relatives and very often through committed Christians – true believers. The truth is, we are all susceptible to some of these behaviors, but when you find an ingrained pattern of these behaviors, when you encounter someone who goes to extreme lengths to appear perfect, even when they clearly are not, refusing to submit to critical self-examination or be subjected to the criticism of friends and family, then you may as well start looking for the other “tell-tale” signs of this very dangerous spirit. When you find relationships in ruin and a trail of hurting, even traumatized people, and a stubborn refusal at reasonable reconciliation attempts - look a little closer. When you find antagonism that goes beyond mere annoyance or irritation, stretching to a relentless aggressive (as opposed to passive) pursuit to “break” someone ... in order to “bring them to heal”, get very suspicious. When you are sent several "messengers" bearing messages of intimidation, fear and discouragement, with the repeated reminder that you will never hear an apology, and that you will only be allowed back into the fold on "their terms" - then know that Jezebel has sent her couriers to see you. We are all sinners ... all of us fall far short of perfection as defined by our Creator, God, and most of us know it and constantly ask God and Jesus for forgiveness and guidance. Those that refuse to humble themselves are not perfect - they only think they are. Sadly their imperfection is as noticeable as their pride - that is, to everybody but themselves and those members of their "cult" programmed to defend their "illusion of perfection". When this behavior becomes steadfast, ingrained, firmly held - Jezebel's in charge!

Unmasking the evil embodied within "The Spirit of Jezebel" (version: 10-Mar-2012)

The Jezebel spirit is born out of witchcraft and rebellion and is one of the most common spirits in operation today. It is a powerful enemy of the "body of Christ" - the church. It operates freely on even sincere believers whose hearts are for God individually and has also attained positions of power within churches. In the secular world, these people are often thought to suffer from "Narcissistic personality disorder", "Paranoia" and are often labeled as "Psychopaths" or just "plain nasty" "Arrogant" or even "plain evil". Yet, the most accurate and complete description of the characteristics of these people is to be found within a spiritual context ... This particular spirit, though only one of many malicious spirits, establishes its stronghold primarily in women; however, many men have been victimized by it as well - where it functions as a "controlling" spirit. In the wake of every person controlled by the Jezebel spirit, is a life of chaos, confusion, instability, broken relationships - destruction. Every person that ever came into close contact with it has seen aggressive attempts to divide their relationships with their loved ones. Any alarm bells ringing yet?

A seductive message is the Jezebel spirit's beguilingly clever invitation: "Let me be your Protector" Jezebel masquerades as a "protector" spirit to gain access, using the inroads already made by spirits of rejection and fear. It promises its victim "protection" if they will submit to it. It promises them the recognition and self-worth they desire (and "deserve"). It promises them complete control of their lives and of those around them. The key word here is CONTROL. Usually using a hurtful event in the victim's life (most frequently abusive treatment by a man or authority figure, either physically or verbally, or abusive treatment by another Jezebel), this spirit promises "If you let me handle this (submit to me), I'll never let that happen to you again." Of course, this is all done very subtly! On the "surface" the goals of this spirit appear to be control and power. However, the Jezebel spirit has more complex characteristics. It is extremely vicious and dangerous - ultimately to its victims more even than to those many others it hurts through them, as they will be destroyed.

It's Mission:

As Fuschia Pickett points out in her book "The Next Move of God", the Jezebel Spirit's mission is to kill the prophets of God - exactly as it tried (and almost did) in bible times and often has throughout history. The goal of the victim is usually quite different - to gain identity, glory, recognition, power, to satisfy the need for acknowledgment and self-worth from others - "the praise of men" Matt. 6:2,5,16). This is an outgrowth of the desire for love and self-worth we all have - with the wrong focus - self! As a secondary mission, the Jezebel spirit seeks to emasculate all men, to divest them of legitimate authority and power over others. It fosters a distrust and/or hatred of men in general, and nurtures motives of vengeance in the victim toward some men in particular - usually as a result of abuse or neglect by a significant male in the victim's life. We often attach a female gender to this spirit because 3 out of 3 times in the bible, it was active through women, but really it has no gender. It's a seething, terribly aggressive, very determined, callous, controlling, narcissistic, power-hungry, manipulative, unrepentant, deceitful - an overwhelmingly evil spirit, and those are mostly only some of its finer points! If we want to think of this spirit as "Feminine" (or more semantically accurate - "Feminist") ... then clearly we can see this is "Satan's woman", not God's!

"The Jezebel spirit" is a Free Christian study-guide courtesy of www.Low-Carb.us

Personality, Characteristics, and "Modus Operandi":

The following are some of the Jezebel spirit's main characteristics, manifestations and methods of operation. For brevity and clarity, the term "Jezebel" is used here to refer to a person controlled by the Jezebel spirit. This means the primary victim, the person who yields her/his life to the Jezebel spirit, and "victims" in turn is used to denote this person, not those many others that are inevitably hurt by her/him. Since a woman, queen Jezebel was it's first victim (after whom it is now named) and since women (Herodias and Jezebel of Thyatira) were and will still be it's preferential victims, most of the examples and discussions refer to it's manifestations in women, and thus a female gender is implied when referring to a "Jezebel". However, most notably in the "power and control" areas, men exhibit these exact same manifestations and can certainly be Jezebels! Please keep in mind the following cautions when seeking discernment of a stronghold - either in yourself or others.

Cautions:

This spirit may not be dominant at all times within the victim, giving the victim the illusion of being "two-faced", even schizophrenic, or "double-minded", as the book of James calls it (James 1:8), to those around her. The victim may not exhibit all of these attributes when the Jezebel spirit is in control. Just because a person exhibits one or more of these characteristics does not automatically make them a "Jezebel". One must be careful to use the gift of discernment prayerfully before concluding that a person is controlled by the Jezebel spirit. See first if it is a "good fit".

The two types Of Jezebels:

There are two main personality types for Jezebel: (1) The high-profile type is generally gregarious, outspoken and highly visible, and is often seen as the "woman who wears the pants in the family". (2) The low-profile type is exactly that - generally soft-spoken, giving the illusion of being solicitous, motherly, protective, even very submissive. This type may be the most dangerous, as she is the most difficult to discern. She relies heavily on manipulation for her power, but it is extremely subtle.

Manifestations of these two types:

Within these two main types, each of two manifestations are possible:

The SEDUCER uses any type of seduction available to gain control and power, as a method of manipulation. The Jezebel commonly uses flirtation to seduce; however, she is not above sexual seduction if it suits her purposes. She uses a spiritual seduction which operates on both males and females. The aim of the spiritual seduction is to convince the person being seduced that the Jezebel is spiritually mature, trustworthy, worthy of being given authority and power, and taken into their confidence. Although Jezebel usually dislikes other women, often lacking lasting friendships with women, she will seduce women in positions of authority, or women close to men of authority (such as their wives) in order to gain power from them, or defuse opposition from them. Her seduction usually uses subtle flattery, but may also include perverted expressions of "agape" love. Her seduction is spiritual fornication. Men are particularly blind to the subtleties of this seduction, as she flatters them with her attention. Women seduced by the Jezebel are blinded to their own seduction, as they do not expect it, or are not aware such a thing exists.

The FRIGID Jezebel personality can frequently be seen as the efficient (and often plain) executive assistant at the side of a powerful businessman or church leader. This Jezebel often lacks a gregarious personality, but may be very outspoken and very aggressive.

The Jezebel Spirit is masterful at Concealing its true identity:

Much of Jezebel's negative or manipulative behavior is "behind the scenes", in private, where her destructive work is done. Therefore, people outside her immediate family often have no idea this spirit is in operation, and may be unwittingly manipulated by her.

Do not underestimate this spirit ... it is most intelligent, even when it tries to act dumb:

Perhaps because the Jezebel spirit weaves such a masterful web of deceit, most of her victims are very intelligent, which she transforms into deceitfulness and cunning. The person controlled by the Jezebel spirit is also very good at deceiving herself.

It's generally always a "man-hater" though this can be well disguised - it gets in her way

As mentioned above, Jezebel hates men and distrusts women. She cannot have a true godly relationship with men, because her underlying desire is to strip them of all their perceived power and then destroy them--to emasculate them emotionally and spiritually. She is generally distrustful of or indifferent toward women, unless they are useful to gain power, or are themselves powerful, so lasting friendships are rare. The Jezebel often ends up friendless when friends are needed.

Secretly or not, Jezebel is power-hungry!

Jezebel is power-hungry, respecting only power stronger than her own. She disdains or considers herself superior to anyone she perceives as having no power, or power less than hers.

It can be quite an "eager-beaver"

The Jezebel seeks preeminence and recognition. The Jezebel, like so many of us, needs a sense of self-worth, which she erroneously perceives to be connected to her performance. She connects her identity with what she does, rather than in the person of Jesus. Sadly, she often succeeds well enough to stay in pursuit of her own performance. In the process, she hinders others from learning to operate in the gifts and talents God has given them, because she "jumps in" before anyone else can. Jezebels are frequently "super-achievers", which sadly is admired both in the church and business world.

Like her biblical counterpart who thought of herself as a "deity", it likes self-worship

Jezebel worships herself (keeps the focus on herself, except where a false attitude of compassion or humility serves her purposes). She has difficulty talking at length about anyone but herself, even when "counseling" others. She is very proud, and often extremely vain. Many Jezebels are reasonably attractive, and some very beautiful; however, much of the seduction and attractiveness is actually demonically derived - giving them the ability to quickly form "soul ties" with people and thus proceed to control them, their lives and their futures. She now lives vicariously through them, drawing strength from them while sapping them of their strength.

It's very jealous of others getting attention, recognition, applause, positions of power etc.

The Jezebel is often extremely jealous when others receive any attention. She will stand in the way of anyone else receiving attention or recognition, if possible. Sometimes this is done consciously, but usually it is done instinctively. This is one of the biggest dangers to the Body of Christ, according to James 3:16, because it opens the door to "every evil thing" to enter in - not just to the Jezebel, but to the entire congregation.

It uses others as "objects" – pawns in it's drive for power.

The Jezebel uses other people as objects, where it suits her need, to gain control, influence and power. Once she has gained the control desired, she generally rejects and tosses the people aside. If they are in her family, she does this emotionally.

Just like it's biblical namesake, Jezebel likes to be the "Queen Bee" – not the 2nd fiddle!

Jezebel demands worship from others (the "queen-bee" syndrome). She must have dominance and control in her home. Other family members must exist to please her.

It's overtly or covertly "Bossy" ... it rebels against authority seeking to replace them

The Jezebel is extremely authoritarian ("bossy") by nature, though subtly with the low-profile type. She is easily offended if her authority is questioned, and will often respond with extreme anger at even the slightest offense. Imagine a dictator like Hitler or Stalin being criticized - same for Jezebel.

Jezebel harbors impossibly unrealistic expectations of others

Her expectations of others are always unrealistic - because others cannot meet her demand for complete submission. If they do try, she despises them and casts them aside anyway, but by then she has what she wants out of them. Anyone attempting to relate to a person with this spirit is literally in a no-win situation. Nothing pleases this spirit – other than, to some degree, complete worship.

Jezebel is into "Perfectionism"

Perfectionism is a common characteristic of the Jezebel - generating self-hatred in the victim, and a despising of others around her who fail to meet her exaggerated standards. This is part of the "unrealistic expectations" she has toward herself and others, and an excuse for disrespect toward others, especially those in authority - they don't "measure up", so she doesn't have to show respect.

Seduction, Control, Manipulation and soul-ties:

Control and manipulation are the strongest parts of the Jezebel nature. These are spirits of witchcraft, and are extremely dangerous. Nearly everything the Jezebel does utilizes one or both spirits to attain her goal. Jezebel is the ultimate manipulator – and nobody is better at manipulation than the person (victim) being controlled by this spirit. But, Jezebel cannot control you until she first seduces you. Beware of flattery, smooth prophetic sayings, and seducing tears from this spirit. Jezebel loves false spiritual government, she knows how to create, flow and operate in it. She views children as tools and weapons to manipulate your heart and advance her goals. Jezebel is like a shark; she is most vicious and dangerous. She circles the lives of others looking for teachable, seducible, controllable, "disciples" of her own. Jezebel likes to birth spiritual children of her own as she looks for disciples to eat from her own table. She will look for those that are in rebellion, who are weak, wounded, or those who are contending, bucking, and fighting spiritual authority.

She knows how to use deep emotional hurts and wounds to manipulate and control as she creates soul ties with you. Jezebel loves to pull people unto herself and away from those who can truly speak into their lives. Jezebel knows how to stir you up because she flows best in whirlwind of confusion and turmoil. She probes your soul, looking for your weakness. She is expert at developing soul ties, and often does so.

As previously mentioned, she seduces her victims where possible. However, the Jezebel will use any tool available to manipulate those around her to do her will.

She uses faults or weaknesses she perceives in the person she is attempting to control to create feelings of shame or guilt, and therefore submission to her will. She often uses your own fears to manipulate you into submission.

Jezebel is very possessive and domineering; she wants to control you. Jezebel loves power, "Give me, give me, give me." You see, money is not really the issue with this spirit, it's power and authority that she's after. She likes to be in control of your life because she draws her strength from controlling you. That's why you feel spiritually drained after contending with her. The Jezebel principality wants to control you.

She uses self-pity and her own weaknesses to manipulate another into submitting to her out of compassion or pity.

She will even use prayer to manipulate the one she is attempting to control, especially prayers prayed audibly over that person to create the illusion that doing Jezebel's will is actually obeying God, or to generate fear or other emotion within the person, which the Jezebel can use for manipulation. Even though often powerfully gifted of the Lord, the Jezebel will frequently operate in the false discernment of the enemy by speaking words of knowledge gained from familiar spirits, and not from the Spirit of God - this is witchcraft. The power of witchcraft is derived from Satan himself. Every attempt at manipulation or control "sells out" more to Satan and strengthens the deception the Jezebel is under.

If you get between Jezebel and the person she is trying to control, she'll attack you viciously, trying her best to destroy your relationship with that person. She will try and destroy your reputation, set you up, and to separate you from her "victim".

Jezebel is attracted to power

Jezebels are attracted to people of power like moths to flames. Often, a very intelligent, efficient, attractive, and even blatant Jezebel can be found serving "at the feet" of prominent leaders, even in the church. The deception and/or seduction of the Jezebel is often so successful that the leader does not recognize who is at his right hand. The Jezebel's true desire is to wrest the power from the person being served. If that person is prophetic in nature, the actual mission is to destroy them by any means available (destroy their credibility, undermine their authority, discredit their ministry, cause them to fall into sexual temptation, etc.).

This is one very ambitious spirit - no lone victim or herd of pigs for this queen! Jezebels are desirous of "moving up the ladder" wherever they are – but this is not always a bad thing, just an additional character trait to look for. However, you simply will not find a humble, repentant, democratic, non-ambitious Jezebel – and why control just 1 or 2 people anyhow?

While Jezebel's belief system is clearly incorrect, hers are very firmly held beliefs! Jezebels are usually people of deep convictions. As mentioned earlier, many people controlled by the Jezebel spirit have a true heart for God and earnestly desire to serve Him. The original Jezebel (The Spirit's first noteworthy victim – queen of Israel) was devoutly religious - but was at total enmity with God. She worshipped at the altar of Baal (worship of the flesh). Modern-day Jezebels may indeed believe they are serving the one true God; however, the hidden agenda is self-worship.

Jezebel is into murmuring, complaining and behind the scenes criticism

Jezebels utilize the spirits of murmuring and complaint and criticism, which are "servant spirits" in her stronghold. She uses criticism of perceived faults in others to build up her own self-esteem, and to justify her disobedience of, or lack of respect for, others. Because she tends to perfectionism, any fault she finds in others is grounds for disobeying their authority. She uses criticism as a tool to manipulate those around her, and along with murmuring and complaint, causes divisiveness to weaken her opposition and thereby to gain control over and to destroy them.

This is one "lustful" spirit!

Jezebels are lustful spirits - with lust for power being primary; however, as mentioned earlier, their lust may be manifested sexually, if it will bring the desired result – power! The manifestation varies from a wife withholding sexual union from the husband for manipulative purposes, to utilizing sexual temptation to draw one more powerful into a compromised position that will cause their destruction or downfall. Think of how many evangelists and pastors have fallen prey to this spirit!

If you want to see an decidedly angry Display – try saying "NO" to a Jezebel!

Jezebel displays angry, vicious and sometimes violent behavior when opposed. She will turn on the one who refuses to do her will or submit to her (especially if she has been successful in manipulating this person in the past), frequently with a vicious, berating verbal attack aimed at humiliation. The emotional damage caused by these outbreaks can be devastating to the one at whom she directs her wrath. This is often the source of terrible emotional wounds for her children and spouse. When this angry behavior happens in public, it often exposes the true spirit in operation to others who may have been previously deceived. "NO" is the operative word for Jezebel. When those in spiritual authority say "NO" to her, she is ready for war. Remember, Jezebel is a warring spirit who is always dressed for battle. Have you ever felt insecure? Be careful, Jezebel loves to flow in the realm of insecurity. "No" is a good acid test if said carefully enough to not make it suspicious of "the trap"

Jezebel is not against suing infirmities and disease.

Jezebels frequently ENJOY people's (including their own) poor health, especially the "low-profile" type. For them, it is a tool for attention, sympathy and other forms of manipulation. The tragedy is that this form of "invited infirmity" eventually leads to real physical problems, and becomes a part of the destruction wrought on the victim by this spirit.

Jezebel reviles legitimate authority. It seeks to replace or rule vicariously thru authority

Jezebels revile (despise and show no respect for) authority. Building on "fear of authority" (especially since men are frequently the authority figures who originally hurt them) coupled with rebellion, she hates anyone placed in authority over her, and seeks to destroy them and take their power. An early manifestation in childhood is a lack of respect for self or others, and no respect for possessions, either theirs or others'.

Destruction of all involved generally will occur if Jezebel isn't defeated or kept in check.

In addition to destroying those around her, Jezebel especially hates the victim she is controlling (remember the mission of Jezebel - to kill the prophets. The victim is often herself anointed of God to be prophetic), and will ultimately cause her victim to self-destruct. This aspect is known as the Black Widow spider syndrome of the Jezebel spirit. Black widow spiders kill their mates. In the spirit realm, there are 2 applications: (1) the Jezebel seeks to kill the male authority figure (or prophet) and (2) she seeks to kill her victim mated to her when Jezebel takes control of their life.

Jezebel is into cursing in a big way!

Jezebels curse everyone, unwittingly bringing a curse upon themselves, most of the time. Criticism is a form of cursing, both of the person being criticized, and of God their Maker. Murmuring and complaint is a cursing of circumstances, which also curses God for allowing them. Jezebel is a master of criticism, murmuring and complaint, as mentioned previously. Often those whom she is at enmity with are deliberately cursed in a conscious effort to "punish" and "bring them back into line" – to bring them back under her control. Jezebel firmly believes she has right on her side in doing these things, and displays vicious and callous disregard for the well-being and independence of others, having convinced herself that it is ultimately for their good as well and that she knows best and really has their best interests at heart in doing so. Those people who have been on the receiving side of Jezebel's curses feel the anger and the viciousness of her curses acutely, and many succumb to them. However, for those under the "protection of the Cross", these curses are most often transformed into blessings instead, leaving Jezebel sapped of emotional energy, frustrated, confused and completely defeated; wondering what went wrong?

This is one spirit with a massive superiority complex! Jezebels frequently perceive themselves as intellectually and/or spiritually superior to others, and "talk down" to others. This attitude is actually despising others. They make it clear that you and they are not on the same level of authority - they are on the throne, by elevating themselves higher while pushing you down lower.

The Jezebel Spirit absolutely hates and shuns repentance and humility!

Because the Jezebel spirit is prideful and rebellious, she hates repentance and humility. These are two mighty weapons and acid-tests which can be used against her. This is a key in discerning this spirit! Find a pride-filled, rebellious person absolutely refusing to repent, who genuinely thinks that there is nothing to repent of anyway - even when confronted with overwhelming evidence to the contrary, and you have found a "host" for the Jezebel spirit. You will note extreme efforts by this "host" to appear "perfect", rather than to genuinely and humbly face up to the fact that nobody is, was or ever can be perfect. There simply will be no genuine compromise on this issue – none!

Jezebels are most often filled with bitterness and resentment

Bitterness and resentment against past hurts and offenses are nurtured in the victim by the Jezebel spirit, because she knows a root of bitterness will grow like a cancer and manifest itself in all sorts of physical ailments, which she can use as tools of manipulation, as noted above. Of course, this cancer of bitterness is also slowly destroying the victim. In many cases, the countenance of the victim gradually grows more and more unattractive, and in the end, victims controlled by the Jezebel spirit may resemble the very witch like crones often used to symbolize witchcraft - where this spirit is birthed. The victim rots from the inside out, physically and spiritually, and it shows. People eventually find Jezebel's "Spiritual ugliness" very repulsive!

Often we find covens of Jezebel - such as a community, group or valley full of them!

Many Jezebels will be drawn to the most influential Jezebel in operation. Though this is done unconsciously, it has the effect of creating a fully-fledged and very effective witches' coven, with a "high priestess" in charge - with devastating results.

Jezebel and her children:

Jezebel's view of children is perverted. She says she loves them, but she really doesn't even know how to love them - using them as weapons to advance her own selfish needs. Children are simply pawns in power and control games. It is not easy surviving having a Jezebel as a parent!

Don't trust it enough to turn your back on it ... Jezebel is a classic "Back-stabber":

Jezebel is the classic back-stabber, she will smile at you, give you a hug and a kiss and then, as soon as you turn around, she stabs you in the back – repeatedly, with vigor ... enjoying every wound she manages to inflict on you. She is a most vicious and devious spirit. Beware!

The way out from under it's control (Guidelines for Intercession)

First some cautions:

Although mercy and deliverance is available from God, until the person being controlled by the Jezebel spirit is fully delivered, Holy Spirit-guided caution should be exercised in dealing with this person. Care should be taken in giving a place of recognition or authority to the victim, as it feeds this spirit. This warning is derived from Revelation 2:20-23, and should not be taken lightly. Remember the stated mission of the Jezebel spirit: to kill (destroy) the prophets of God.

Use Discernment and "Test the Spirits"

The victim controlled by Jezebel may exhibit many gifts and have a true heart for God. The reason she is a victim often is that the Jezebel spirit is out to destroy her host's life - to kill HER.

The gifts and callings are without repentance (Rom. 11:29). In other words, the gifts are given by the Holy Spirit without regard to "merit" - you can't earn them.

We are commanded to "test the spirits" (1 John. 4:1). To test for Jezebel, with the guidance of the Holy Spirit, remember:

- 1) "You shall know them by their fruit" (Matt. 7:16) - not by their gifts.
- 2) Jezebel hates humility and repentance. She will refuse or dodge a call for either one of these to occur in her life, or fake it if "boxed in". She simply cannot and will not say she is sorry, and even if somehow she is forced to do so, it is very clear that she is NOT sorry at all! Genuine repentance and humility is easy enough to discern. Learn to tell the difference, it may end up saving the day!
- 3) Easily apparent in any Jezebel is complete selfishness - and a total lack of empathy for others; though, at times, these emotions are feigned -but it's not real concern, so learn to tell these apart.
- 4) The characteristics, personality, and methods of operation will usually manifest themselves openly at times. The seducer is often blatantly obvious to everyone except the person being seduced.

The Word admonishes us to "walk circumspectly" - to be observant of what's going on (Eph. 5:15). Defiance of and lack of submission to genuine authority will usually manifest itself clearly, giving the force behind it away. The key is to be sensitive to the Holy Spirit's guidance and discernment, being careful not to become critical or judgmental by yourself. The bright white light of truth and discernment given by the Holy Spirit very quickly illuminates the total blackness of this very evil spirit, even when it is operating in seemingly Godly folks ... and then the battle ensues.

Denial is Routine

Much intercessory warfare may be required for the victim to be delivered. Victims must first recognize deliverance is needed. It is rare that a person, if directly confronted and told Jezebel is the problem, will believe and accept it. Denial is routine. There is always some other reason for their behavior, and it is true that other spiritual influences may be actively in operation.

Often, a Jezebel will have gone through a "deliverance" ministry earlier, and been told they were totally and completely delivered. However, because doors were not properly shut in the spirit realm, the Jezebel spirit was able to return, unbeknown to the victim, with free rein and multiplied in power (Luke 11:24-26).

The victim now believes a lie: that they are fully delivered, and cannot be deceived by the enemy since they are now completely Holy-Spirit controlled. I have heard this type of "confession" from two Jezebels, even after reminding one of them of the warning of Jesus in Matthew 24:24. The Jezebel now operates freely in her victim, masquerading as the Holy Spirit, with the victim (and many of those around her) fully deceived.

Use Compassion and Understanding

Jezebels generally have a deep lack of self-worth and understanding of God's love for them personally, regardless of the amount of knowledge of the Word. There is such a desperate need of fulfilling self-worth they are ruthless to gain any measure of recognition, even if they already have it. They will step on whoever gets in their way, and many times not be aware they are. Because of rejection and Jezebel, they cannot properly understand the principle of identity in Christ, though they may believe it intellectually. Indeed, there may be a fear of loss of identity associated with

"identity in Christ". There is also a fear of loss of blessing ("what will I lose in giftings, control, etc.?") if they turn and renounce their stronghold. This is another manifestation of lack of trust in God that His blessings cannot far exceed those which are already there, or that He would take away blessing He has already bestowed. To illustrate a person victimized by the Jezebel spirit, imagine a picture of a huge, ugly, strong alien-like being with a metallic-looking body, as in the movie, "Alien". The Jezebel spirit is the "superstructure", or "exoskeleton", like the hard body of a beetle. Inside is it's victim, a "puddle" of bloody, gelatinous mass lying in a heap. The victim is lonely, afraid (particularly of being abandoned), forlorn, and in terrible spiritual pain. Deliverance from the Jezebel spirit, with the victim in that condition, would destroy the victim entirely.

Strengthen the "Inner Person"

The first step in intercession and in the victim's gaining deliverance from the Jezebel spirit, then, requires that the inner person be strengthened by the Lord (Eph 3:16). This is the first principle of deliverance from any demonic stronghold. If you are interceding for the victim, begin to call forth strength in the inner person for them. Be aware that God may give the victim some recognition in order to build up their inner person for deliverance. It may appear that the Jezebel spirit is being fed, when in actuality, the victim's inner person is what is being nurtured. This is why those dealing with the Jezebel-controlled victim must be careful to obey the leading of the Holy Spirit toward them. The goal is for the victim to become strengthened by the Lord to the degree that the stronghold can be exposed and the victim will choose to turn to the Lord, turning her back on the Jezebel and renouncing it in her life.

Maintain an Attitude of Repentance and Humility: These are two mighty weapons against the Jezebel spirit. She hates them both, as mentioned before. If you display these qualities before her, you may even be despised and reviled by her openly. However, they disarm her weapons against you, serve to expose the Jezebel spirit, and are critical for you if you are interceding for her, your local body, or your region.

Remember to cleanse Your Own Temple: In preparation for warfare, Jesus said "first remove the log from your eye, and then the splinter from your brother's" (Matt. 7:5). Spend time with the Lord. Put on your whole Armour (Eph. 6:13-18), and declare war against the strongholds of the enemy in your own life first. Intercessors are not "sinless perfection", but must be willing to be "cleaned up" themselves, if they want to pray the same for others.

Declare War on Behalf of the Victims - the host person and those victimized by them.

Intercession is a key to deliverance from Jezebel. The victim's spiritual eyes must be opened to the influence of Jezebel in their lives, in order for deliverance to occur. Seek the Lord, and obey as directed to intercede for your sister or brother. God almost always gives us discernment so that we can intercede. Intercede in praise and worship, pray in the spirit, and intercede on an individual, specific basis as the Lord leads. Remember often none of the victims know what's really happening!

Plead the Blood of Jesus – invoking the power of what the Cross represents for the world. Make a declaration in your prayer that the victory is complete by the blood of Jesus. Regularly plead the blood of Jesus" over the victim!

Remember what we are told about "Binding & Loosing":

Jesus said "Whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven" (Matt 16:19b). So, bind the strongman. In order to bind Jezebel off the victim, you must first bind the strongman. Who is the strongman? (See Matt. 12:29). Seek the Lord for specific instructions in each case. Do not apply "blanket bindings" without confirmation from the Spirit of God. You may need to bind the "unholy alliance" mentioned in the introduction to Spiritual Strongholds before you bind Jezebel, and in the same order as described for her below. Then be obedient to the Lord. Do not "cast out" the spirits at this time. The goal of your intercession is to see your sister strengthened so she can make the decision for deliverance. Prayerfully consider the following "tactics". I have heard many teachings in "reverse" order, but since Jesus said to first bind the strongman, we should! You do warfare against principalities and powers differently - we wrestle against them (Eph 6:12). Since the Jezebel is also a principality, you may need to first bind the principality of Jezebel off your geographical region, and the "power" off your local church body. Then bind Jezebel off your sister or brother. Remember the power of praise in spiritual warfare. Remember the power of agreement (see below). Jesus said "whatever (that includes principalities and powers) you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven" (Matt 16:19, Matt 18:18). Forbid the Jezebel to use their power in any way -deafening, blinding, lying, etc. If you do not use this Biblical order of first binding Satan (the ultimate "strongman"), then principality, then power, and then individual Jezebel, you may be in danger of serious attack, for the power and principality may turn and attack you if you bind only the demon from your sister or brother. Their power is connected to and drawn from hers/his. You have the authority from the Word of God. You are seated with Jesus in the heavenly places (Eph. 2:6), which is far above all principalities and powers (Eph. 1:21). Loose the power of the Holy Spirit. When you have bound the power of the enemy, it is important to ask the Holy Spirit to be loosed upon your region, local church body, and your sister. The idea is to ask the Holy Spirit to fill any voids left by the enemy, and to speak into the life of your region, your local body, and your sister or brother - now that they can hear Him without hindrance. Use the weapons of praise and worship in your intercession. Pray steadfastly in the Spirit. Remember what some of Jesus' disciples reported to him in Luke 10:17, but keep in mind they once also failed rather badly. Matthew 17:14-21 = (Faith + Prayer + fasting)

Be Warned, be Armed and be Prepared!

The Jezebel spirit will send demons of fear and discouragement against anyone who confronts her. She will "put a contract out on you" if you go to war against her. She will not take defeat "lying down". Arm yourself by staying close to the Lord, putting on your "whole armor of God", and use the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God. Be persistent in your battle. Don't forget humility and repentance when needed. Pray Psalm 91 over yourself as well as those for whom you are praying.

Corporate Intercession

There is strength in numbers, according to the Word: "One can put a thousand to flight, and two can put ten thousand..." (Deut. 32:30). Allow the Holy Spirit to guide you to corporate intercessory prayer with other believers who are called to war against this spirit.

Be wary of gossiping about the "victims" publicly as this would be "uncovering their nakedness". "Let him know that he who turns a sinner from the error of his way will save a soul from death and cover a multitude of sins." (James 5:20)

If you are unsure how to pray, ask yourself how you would like to be prayed for if you had this problem. Pray in the Spirit and, lastly Help Pick up the Pieces - (read Romans chapter 8) Be ready, when God reveals the truth to the victim, to help her pick up the pieces, to help them build a "new life in Christ". The victim's life may have fallen apart before deliverance. Deliverance may be painful, and the victim needs the Love of Jesus without condemnation to heal and walk free.

Summary: Remember, the Jezebel spirit is extremely wicked and dangerous, and her influence is widespread. Do not take your warfare against her lightly. However, we as believers have the authority through Jesus Christ over every wicked force. The blood and the name of Jesus has won the victory over every evil. Balance a strong offensive against the enemy with the compassion of Jesus toward the one in bondage. A sensitivity and obedience to the leading of the Holy Spirit is essential in defeating this foe and bringing deliverance to the captive (Is. 61:1-3). The only path of recovery for Jezebel is repentance and submission to true spiritual authority within God's family. Being teachable and submissive brings spiritual stability back into Jezebel's life and allows the victim to break free, to fulfill her God given destiny in Christ. But for those who choose not to turn from the spiritual operations of Jezebel - "Great will be her tribulation" (Rev 2:22).

Editor's comments: It has been our experience that, once firmly ensconced, the Jezebel Spirit is almost impossible to evict. We "hung-in there" for some 35 years trying to make some small breakthrough with the "Jezebel" that unflinchingly persisted in trying (literally) to destroy our lives and entire family - and failed to even get her to budge "1 little inch"! But we sure learned a lot! Years ago, after we became born-again Christians, by invoking the power of Jesus Christ, the difference in dealing with her was absolutely miraculous ... and I do not use this word lightly! Then the Lord put us through "boot-camp" and we were forced into situation after situation where we encountered this spirit, in churches, amongst friends, in our neighborhood and lastly (quite unbelievably) we were placed into the "Valley of the shadow of death" – a stronghold of "Wicca", positively brimming with Jezebels who came from "far and wide" to live there, almost as if they were drawn there by some unseen power! It was a "Jezebel coven", and I have to tell you, as beautiful a place as it was, it quickly felt a lot more like "Hell" than like "Heaven". Still God protected us there (and we learned so much) then when that time of learning neared an end, the witchcraft that was aimed at our family became so intense that after years of very effective ministry, I was reduced to looking like king Theodyn (From "Lord of the Rings") before Gandalf set him free from the spell that held him "Bound and useless" – like a zombie. For a time this ministry was paralyzed. Then just when evidence surfaced that our "cover" had indeed blown and that a very evil plot was afoot, God rescued our entire family right from under the nose of our enemies – even before they had time to blink or regroup! An epic voyage followed. 23 days and 11,000km later a very dangerous journey had ended and we arrived at our new home, a truly beautiful, refreshingly Godly country, and here all my previous strength returned and I continue on! All Praise goes to God and the power of our Risen Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ! It is our experience that we should first deal with the secondary and tertiary victims of the "Jezebel spirit" as they benefit the most and require the least effort - and they really need to be set free and be shown that the problem is not (as they have been told repeatedly) them. Help them understand what they had been facing. Then only, if you have the energy or capability to do so, try and help the primary victim. We ended up finally handing "Jezebel" over to God to deal with in the end – but only after we were pretty sure that is exactly what God was asking of us, after God made it clear that it was dangerous to stay and not required any longer! One day I will tell you that story. It is so similar to the biblical one (Naboth incident as well) but for now we prefer to spend our time in helping others also to "break free". It's tough when one person hates you so much that they want you dead ... kind of like facing one angry Lion – but imagine being thrown into the "Lions den" - the den brimming with hungry Lion's circling you, licking their lips? Well, it happened, and just as in the Biblical story, for almost 7 years, God kept us safe there ... but we do have a few tooth-marks on our legs and claw marks on our backs! Well, get used to it when fighting "Jezebel"!

Now let's look at fascinating excerpts from a fascinating book:

“The People of the Lie”

Copyright: 1983 A Touchstone Book, published by Simon Shuster

Written by M. Scott Peck M.D.... author of "The Road Less Traveled"...The Book that has been on the New York Times best pick list longer than any book in history... Though mostly a secular study of evil, you will be fascinated by it, and from these excerpts, the evil nature of "the Jezebel spirit" clearly emerges! It is worth noting that long before his death, Dr. Scott Peck, after having studied all religions, chose to become a Christian. (This book was written after his acceptance of Jesus Christ into his life - not so all of his books)

Evil And Sin:

...It is necessary to draw the distinction between evil and ordinary sin. It is not their sins per se that characterize evil people, rather it is the subtlety and persistence and consistency of their sins. This is because the central defect of the evil is not the sin but the refusal to acknowledge it.

...The evil appear to be most ordinary. They live down the street, on any street. They may be rich or poor, educated or uneducated. There is little that is dramatic about them. They are not designated criminals. More often than not they will be "solid citizens"-Sunday school teachers, policemen, or bankers, and active in the PTA.

How can this be? How can they be evil and not designated as criminals? The key lies in the word "designated." They are criminals in that they commit "crimes" against life and liveliness. But except in rare instances-such as the case of a Hitler-when they might achieve extraordinary degree of political power that remove them from ordinary restraints, their "crimes" are so subtle and covert that they cannot clearly be designated as crimes. The theme of hiding and covertness will occur again and again throughout the rest of the book. It is the basis for the title "The People of the Lie."

I have spent a good deal of time working in prisons with designate criminals. Almost never have I experienced them as evil people. Obviously they are destructive, and usually repetitively so. But there is a kind of randomness to their destructiveness. Moreover, although to the authorities they generally deny responsibility for their evil deeds, there is still a quality of openness to their wickedness. They themselves are quick to point this out, claiming that they have been caught precisely because they are the "honest criminals." The truly evil, they will tell you, always reside outside of jail. Clearly these proclamations are self-justifying. They are also, I believe, generally accurate.

People in jail can almost always be assigned a standard psychiatric diagnosis of one kind or another. The diagnoses range all over the map and correspond, in layman's terms, to such qualities as craziness or impulsiveness or aggressiveness or lack of conscience. The men and women I shall be talking about, such as Bobby's parents (who, amongst other things, had one of their children commit suicide with a .22 rifle they bought for him and then turned around and give the same rifle to his younger brother as a birthday gift) have no such obvious defects and do not fall clearly into our routine psychiatric pigeonholes. This is not because the evil are healthy. It is simply because we have not yet developed a definition for their disease. Since I distinguish between evil people and ordinary criminals, I also obviously make the distinction between evil as a personality characteristic and evil deeds. In other words, evil deeds do not an evil person make. Otherwise we should all be evil, because we all do evil things. Sinning is most broadly defined as "missing the mark." This means that we sin every time we fail to hit the bull's-eye. Sin is nothing more and nothing less than a failure to be continually perfect. Because it is impossible for us to be continually perfect, we are all sinners. We routinely fail to do the very best of which we are capable, and with each failure we commit a crime of sorts-against God, our neighbors, or ourselves, if not frankly against the law.

Of course there are crimes of greater and lesser magnitude. It is a mistake, however, to think of sin or evil as a matter of degree. It may seem less odious to cheat the rich than the poor, but it is still cheating. There are differences before the law between defrauding a business, claiming a false deduction on your income tax, using a crib sheet in an examination, telling your wife that you have to work late when you are unfaithful, or telling your husband (or yourself) that you didn't have time to pick up his clothes at the cleaner, when you spent an hour on the phone with your neighbor. Surely one is more excusable than the other-and perhaps all the more so under certain circumstances-but the fact remains that they are all lies and betrayals. If you are sufficiently scrupulous not to have done any such thing recently, then ask whether there is any way in which you have lied to yourself. Or have kidded yourself. Or have been less than you could be-which is a self-betrayal. Be perfectly honest with yourself, and you will realize that you sin. If you do not realize it, then you are not perfectly honest with yourself, which is itself a sin. It is inescapable: we are all sinners. "Although so frequently and even evilly abused, perhaps the greatest beauty of Christian doctrine is its understanding approach to sin. It is a two-pronged approach. On the one hand, it insists upon our sinful human nature. Any genuine Christian, therefore, will consider himself or herself to be a sinner. The fact that many nominal and overtly devout "Christians" do not in their hearts consider themselves sinners should not be perceived as a failure of the doctrine but only a failure of the individual to begin to live up to it. More will be said later about evil in Christian guise. On the other hand, Christian doctrine also insists that we are forgiven our sins-at least as long as we experience contrition for them. Fully realizing the extent of our sinfulness, we are likely to feel almost overwhelmed by hopelessness if we do not simultaneously believe in the merciful and forgiving nature of the Christian God. Thus the Church, when in its right mind, will also insist that to endlessly dwell on each and every smallest sin one has committed (a process known as "excessive scrupulosity") is itself a sin. Since God forgives us, to fail to forgive ourselves is to hold ourselves higher than God-thereby indulging in the sin of a perverted form of pride".

If evil people cannot be defined by the illegality of their deeds or the magnitude of their sins, then how are we to define them? The answer is by the consistency of their sins. While usually subtle, their destructiveness is remarkably consistent. This is because those who have "crossed over the line" are characterized by their absolute refusal to tolerate the sense of their own sinfulness.

I commented that George, blessed by guilt (for making a deal with Satan), managed to turn away from becoming evil, because he was willing-at least to a rudimentary degree-to tolerate the sense of his own sinfulness, he was able to reject his pact with the devil. Had he not borne the pain of "the guilties" he experienced over the pact, his moral deterioration would have continued. More than anything else, it is the sense of our own sinfulness that prevents any of us from undergoing a similar deterioration. As I have written elsewhere: "Blessed are the poor in spirit," Jesus began when the time came for him to address the multitudes. What did he mean by this opener? . . . What is so great about feeling down on yourself-about having this sense of personal sin? If you ask that, it might help to remember the Pharisees. They were the fat cats of Jesus' day. They didn't feel poor in spirit. They felt they had it all together, that they were the ones who knew the score, who deserved to be the culture leaders in Jerusalem and Palestine, and were the ones who murdered Jesus.

The poor in spirit do not commit evil. Evil is not committed by people who feel uncertain about their righteousness, who question their own motives, who worry about betraying themselves. The evil in this world is committed by the spiritual fat cats, by the Pharisees of our own day, the self-righteous who think they are without sin because they are unwilling to suffer the discomfort of significant self-examination. This is why Jesus said: Matthew 5:3 "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of God".

Unpleasant though it may be, the sense of personal sin is precisely that which keeps our sin from getting out of hand. It is quite painful at times, but it is a very great blessing because it is our one and only effective safeguard against our own proclivity for evil. Saint Therese of Lisieux put it so nicely in her gentle way: "If you are willing to serenely bear the trial of being displeasing to yourself, then you will be for Jesus a pleasant place of shelter.

The evil do not serenely bear the trial of being displeasing to themselves. In fact, they don't bear it at all. I could not, for instance, detect a hint of self-recrimination in Bobby's parents. And it is out of their failure to put themselves on trial that their evil arises.

The varieties of people's wickedness are manifold. As a result of their refusal to tolerate the sense of their own sinfulness, the evil ones become uncorrectable grab bags of sin. They are, for instance, in my experience, remarkably greedy people. Thus they are cheap-so cheap that their "gifts" may be murderous. In The Road Less Traveled, I suggested the most basic sin is laziness. In the next subsection I suggest it may be pride-because all sins are reparable except the sin of believing one is without sin. But perhaps the question of which sin is the greatest is, on a certain level, a moot issue. All sins betray-and isolate us from-both the divine and our fellow creatures. As one deep religious thinker put it, any sin "can harden into hell":

Also, from Marilyn von Waldener and M. Scott Peck, "What Return Can I Make?"

There can be a state of soul against which Love itself is powerless because it has hardened itself against Love. Hell is essentially a state of being which we fashion for ourselves: a state of final separateness from God which is the result not of God's repudiation of man, but of man's repudiation of God, and a repudiation which is eternal precisely because it has become, in itself, immovable. There are analogies in human experience: the hate which is so blind, so dark, that Love only makes it the more violent; the pride which is so stony that humility only makes it more scornful; the inertia-last but not least the inertia-which has so taken possession of the personality that no crisis, no appeal, no inducement whatsoever, can stir it into activity, but on the contrary makes it bury itself the more deeply in its immobility. So with the soul and God; pride can become hardened into hell, hatred can become hardened into hell, any of the seven root forms of wrongdoing can harden into hell, and not least that sloth which is boredom with divine things, the inertia that cannot be troubled to repent, even though it sees the abyss into which the soul is falling, because for so long, in little ways perhaps, it has accustomed itself to refuse whatever might cost it an effort. May God in his mercy save us from that.

A predominant characteristic, however, of the behavior of those I call evil is scapegoating. Because in their hearts they consider themselves above reproach, they must lash out at anyone who does reproach them. They sacrifice others to preserve their self-image of perfection. Take a simple example of a six-year-old boy who asks his father, "Daddy, why did you call Grand-mommy a bitch?" "I told you to stop bothering me," the father roars. "Now you're going to get it. I'm going to teach you not to use such filthy language, I'm going to wash your mouth out with soap. Maybe that will teach you to clean up what you say and keep your mouth shut when you're told." Dragging the boy upstairs to the soap dish, the father inflicts this punishment on him. In the name of "proper discipline" evil has been committed.

Scapegoating works through a mechanism psychiatrists call "projection". Since the evil, deep down, feel themselves to be faultless, it is inevitable that when they are in conflict with the world they will invariably perceive the conflict as the world's fault. Since they must deny their own badness, they must perceive others as bad. They project their own evil onto the world. They never think of themselves as evil; on the other hand, they consequently see much evil in others. The father perceived the profanity and un-cleanliness as existing in his son and took action to cleanse his son's "filthiness." Yet we know it was the father who was profane and unclean. The father projected his own filth onto his son and then assaulted his son in the name of good parenting. Evil, then, is most often committed in order to scapegoat, and the people I label as evil are chronic scapegoaters. In The Road Less Traveled I defined evil "as the exercise of political power-that is, the imposition of one's will upon others by overt or covert coercion-in order to avoid . . . spiritual growth" (p. 279). In other words, the evil attack others instead of facing their own failures. Spiritual growth requires the acknowledgment of one's need to grow. If we cannot make that acknowledgment, we have no option except to attempt to eradicate the evidence of our imperfection. Ernest Becker, in his final work, Escape from Evil (Macmillan, 1965), pointed out the essential role of scapegoating in the genesis of human evil. He erred, I believe, in focusing exclusively on the fear of death as the sole motive for such scapegoating. Indeed, I think the fear of self-criticism is the more potent motive. Although Becker did not make the point, he might have equated the fear of self-criticism with the fear of death. Self-criticism is a call to personality change. As soon as I criticize a part of myself I incur an obligation to change that part. But the process of personality change is a painful one. It is like a death. The old personality pattern must die for a new pattern to take its place. The evil are pathologically attached to the status quo of their personalities, which in their narcissism they consciously regard as perfect. I think it is quite possible that the evil may perceive even a small degree of change in their beloved selves as representing total annihilation. In this sense, the threat of self-criticism may feel to one who is evil synonymous with the threat of extinction. How this is so will become clear as we go more deeply into the subject of narcissism.

Strangely enough, evil people are often destructive because they are attempting to destroy evil. The problem is that they misplace the locus of the evil. Instead of destroying others they should be destroying the sickness within themselves. As life often threatens their self-image of perfection, they are often busily engaged in hating and destroying that life-usually in the name of righteousness. The fault, however, may not be so much that they hate life as that they do not hate the sinful part of themselves. I doubt that Bobby's parents deliberately wanted to kill Stuart or him. I suspect if I had gotten to know them well enough, I would have found their murderous behavior totally dictated by an extreme form of self-protectiveness which invariably sacrificed others rather than themselves.

What is the cause of this failure of self-hatred, this failure to be displeasing to oneself, which seems to be the central sin at the root of the scapegoating behavior of those I call evil? The cause is not, I believe, an absent conscience. There are people, both in and out of jail, who seem utterly lacking in conscience or superego. Psychiatrists call them psychopaths or sociopaths. Guiltless, they not only commit crimes but may often do so with a kind of reckless abandon. There is little pattern or meaning to their criminality; it is not particularly characterized by scapegoating. Conscienceless, psychopaths appear to be bothered or worried by very little-including their own criminality. They seem to be about as happy inside a jail as out. They do attempt to hide their crimes, but their efforts to do so are often feeble and careless and poorly planned. They have sometimes been referred to as "moral imbeciles," and there is almost a quality of innocence to their lack of worry and concern. This is hardly the case with those I call evil. Utterly dedicated to preserving their self-image of perfection, they are unceasingly engaged in the effort to maintain the appearance of moral purity. They worry about this a great deal. They are acutely sensitive to social norms and what others might think of them. Like Bobby's parents, they dress well, go to work on time, pay their taxes, and outwardly seem to live lives that are above reproach. The words "image, appearance, and "outwardly" are crucial to understanding the morality of the evil. While they seem to lack any motivation to be good, they intensely desire to appear good. Their "goodness" is all on a level of pretense. It is, in effect, a lie. This is why they are the "people of the lie."

Actually, the lie is designed not so much to deceive others as to deceive themselves. They cannot or will not tolerate the pain of self-reproach. The decorum with which they lead their lives is maintained as a mirror in which they can see themselves reflected righteously. Yet the self-deceit would be unnecessary if the evil had no sense of right and wrong. We lie only when we are attempting to cover up something we know to be illicit. Some rudimentary form of conscience must precede the act of lying. There is no need to hide unless we first feel that something needs to be hidden.

We come now to a sort of paradox. I have said that evil people feel themselves to be perfect. At the same time, however, I think they have an unacknowledged sense of their own evil nature. Indeed, it is this very sense from which they are frantically trying to flee. The essential component of evil is not the absence of a sense of sin or imperfection but the unwillingness to tolerate that sense. At one and the same time, the evil are aware of their evil and desperately trying to avoid the awareness. Rather than blissfully lacking a sense of morality, like the psychopath, they are continually engaged in sweeping the evidence of their evil under the rug of their own consciousness. For everything they did, Bobby's parents had a rationalization—a whitewash good enough for themselves even if not for me. The problem is not a defect of conscience but the effort to deny the conscience its due. We become evil by attempting to hide from ourselves. The wickedness of the evil is not committed directly, but indirectly as a part of this cover-up process. Evil Originates not in the absence of guilt but in the effort to escape it.

It often happens, then, that the evil may be recognized by its very disguise. The lie can be perceived before the misdeed it is designed to hide—the cover-up before the fact. We see the smile that hides the hatred, the smooth and oily manner that masks the fury, the velvet glove that covers the fist. Because they are such experts at disguise, it is seldom possible to pinpoint the maliciousness of the evil. The disguise is usually impenetrable. But what we can catch are glimpses of "The uncanny game of hide-and-seek in the obscurity of the soul, in which it, the single human soul, evades itself, avoids itself, hides from itself.*

*Buber, "Good and Evil", p. 111. Since the primary motive of the evil is disguise, one of the places evil people are most likely to be found is within the church. What better way to conceal one's evil from oneself, as well as from others, than to be a deacon or some other highly visible form of Christian within our culture? In India I would suppose that the evil would demonstrate a similar tendency to be "good" Hindus or "good" Moslems. I do not mean to imply that the evil are anything other than a small minority among the religious or that the religious motives of most people are in any way spurious. I mean only that evil people tend to gravitate toward piety for the disguise and concealment it can offer them.

In "The Road Less Traveled" I suggested that laziness or the desire to escape "legitimate suffering" lies at the root of all mental illness. Here we are also talking about avoidance and evasion of pain. What distinguishes the evil, however, from the rest of us mentally ill sinners is the specific type of pain they are running away from. They are not pain avoiders or lazy people in general. To the contrary, they are likely to exert themselves more than most in their continuing effort to obtain and maintain an image of high respectability. They may willingly, even eagerly, undergo great hardships in their search for status. It is only one particular kind of pain they cannot tolerate: the pain of their own conscience, the pain of the realization of their own sinfulness and imperfection.

Since they will do almost anything to avoid the particular pain that comes from self-examination, under ordinary circumstances the evil are the last people who would ever come to psychotherapy. The evil hate the light—the light of goodness that shows them up, the light of scrutiny that exposes them, the light of truth that penetrates their deception. Psychotherapy is a light-shedding process par excellence. Except for the most twisted motives, an evil person would be more likely to choose any other conceivable route than the psychiatrist's couch. The submission to the discipline of self-observation required by psychoanalysis does, in fact, seem to them like suicide. The most significant reason we know so little scientifically about human evil is simply that the evil are so extremely reluctant to be studied.

If the central defect of the evil is not one of conscience, then where does it reside? The essential psychological problem of human evil, I believe, is a particular variety of narcissism.

NARCISSISM AND WILL

Narcissism, or self-absorption, takes many forms. Some are normal. Some are normal in childhood but not in adulthood. Some are more distinctly pathological than others. The subject is as complex as it is important. It is not the purpose of this book, however, to give a balanced view of the whole topic, so we will proceed immediately to that particular pathologic variant that Erich Fromm called "Malignant narcissism". Malignant narcissism is characterized by an un-submitted will. All adults who are mentally healthy submit themselves one way or another to something higher than themselves, be it God or truth or love or some other ideal. They do what God wants them to do rather than what they would desire. "Thy will, not mine, be done," the God-submitted person says. They believe in what is true rather than what they would like to be true.

To a greater or lesser degree, all mentally healthy individuals submit themselves to the demands of their own conscience. Not so the evil, however. In the conflict between their guilt and their will, it is the guilt that must go and the will that must win. The reader will be struck by the extraordinary willfulness of evil people. They are men and women of obviously strong will, determined to have their own way. There is a remarkable power in the manner in which they attempt to control others.

The overcontrollingness of evil is well expressed through the Mormon myth in which Christ and Satan were each required to present God with his own plan for dealing with the infant human race. Satan's plan was simple (of the sort that most business and military leaders today would come up with): God had armies of angels at His command; just assign an angel with punitive power to each human, and He would have no trouble keeping them in line. Christ's plan was radically different and more imaginative (and biophilic): "Let them have free will and go their own way," he proposed, "but allow me to live and die as one of them, both as an example of how to live and of how much You care for them." God, of course, chose Christ's plan as the more creative, and Satan rebelled at the choice. The controlling nature of evil is also treated at length by Marguerite Shuster in her unpublished dissertation, "Power, Pathology & Paradox" Fuller Theological Seminary 1977)

Theologians speak of evil being a consequence of free will. When God, creating us in His own image, gave us free will, He had to allow us humans the option of evil. The problem can also be envisioned in the secular terms of evolution theory. The "will" of less evolved creatures seems largely under the control of their instincts. This leaves humans in the position of being either totally willful or having to seek new ways of self-control through submission to higher principles. But this still leaves us with the question of why some human beings are able to achieve such submission while others are not.

Indeed, it is almost tempting to think that the problem of evil lies in the will itself. Perhaps the evil are born so inherently strong-willed that it is impossible for them ever to submit their will. Yet I think it is characteristic of all "great" people that they are extremely strong-willed-whether their greatness be for good or for evil. The strong will - the power and authority of Jesus, radiates from the Gospels, just as Hitler's did from "Mein Kampf". But Jesus' will was that of his Father, and Hitler's that of his own. The crucial distinction is between "willingness and willfulness.'

This willful failure of submission that characterizes malignant narcissism is depicted in both the stories of Satan and of Cain and Abel. Satan refused to submit to God's judgment that Christ was superior to him. For Christ to be preferred meant that Satan was not. Satan was less than Christ in God's eyes. For Satan to have accepted God's judgment, he would have had to accept his own imperfection. This he could not or would not do. It was unthinkable that he was imperfect. Consequently submission was impossible and both the rebellion and fall inevitable. So also God's acceptance of Abel's sacrifice implied a criticism of Cain: Cain was less than Abel in God's eyes. Since he refused to acknowledge his imperfection, it was inevitable that Cain, like Satan, should take the law into his own hands and commit murder. In some similar, although usually more subtle fashion, all who are evil also take the law into their own hands, to destroy life or liveliness in defense of their narcissistic self-image.

"Pride goes before the fall" it is said, and of course laymen simply call pride what we have labeled with the fancy psychiatric term of "malignant narcissism." Being at the very root of evil, it is no accident that Church authorities have generally considered pride first among the sins. By the sin of pride they do not generally mean the sense of legitimate achievement one might enjoy after a job well done. While such pride, like normal narcissism, may have its pitfalls, it is also part of healthy self-confidence and a realistic sense of self-worth. What is meant is, rather, a kind of pride that unrealistically denies our inherent sinfulness and imperfection-a kind of overweening pride or arrogance that prompts people to reject and even attack the judgment implied by the day-to-day evidence of their own inadequacy. Despite its fruits, Bobby's parents saw no fault in their child care. In Buber's words, the malignantly narcissistic insist upon "affirmation independent of all findings. What is the cause of this overweening pride, this arrogant self-image of perfection, this particularly malignant type of narcissism? Why does it afflict a few when most seem to escape its clutches? We do not know. In the past fifteen years psychiatrists have begun to pay increasing attention to the phenomenon of narcissism, but our understanding of the subject is still in its infancy. We have not yet succeeded, for instance, in distinguishing the different types of excessive self-absorption. There are many who are clearly, even grossly narcissistic, in one way or another but are not evil. All I can say at this point is that the particular brand of narcissism that characterizes evil people seems to be one that particularly afflicts the will. Why a person should be a victim of this type and not another or none at all, I can only vaguely surmise. It is my experience that evil seems to run in families. The person to be described in Chapter 4 had evil parents. But the familial pattern, if accurate, does nothing to resolve the old "nature versus nurture" controversy. Does evil run in families because it is genetic and inherited? Or because it is learned by the child in imitation of its parents? Or even as a defense against its parents? And how are we to explain the fact that many of the children of evil parents, although usually scarred, are not evil? We do not know, and we will not know until an enormous amount of painstaking scientific work has been accomplished. Nonetheless, a leading theory of the genesis of pathological narcissism is that it is a defensive phenomenon. Since almost all young children demonstrate a formidable array of narcissistic characteristics, it is assumed that narcissism is something we generally "grow out of" in the course of normal development, through a stable childhood, under the care of loving and understanding parents. If the parents are cruel and unloving, however, or the childhood otherwise traumatic, it is believed that the infantile narcissism will be preserved as a kind of psychological fortress to protect the child against the vicissitudes of its intolerable life. This theory might well apply to the genesis of human evil. The builders of the medieval cathedrals placed upon their buttresses the figures of gargoyles-themselves symbols of evil-in order to ward off the spirits of greater evil. Thus children may become evil in order to defend themselves against the onslaughts of parents who are evil. It is possible, therefore, to think of human evil-or some of it-as a kind of psychological gargoyleism.

There are other ways, however, to look at the genesis of human evil. The fact of the matter is that some of us are very good and some of us very evil, and most of us are somewhere in between. We might therefore think of human good and evil as a kind of continuum. As individuals we can move ourselves one way or another along the continuum. Just as there is a tendency for the rich to get richer, however, and the poor to get poorer, so there seems to be a tendency for the good to get better and the bad to get worse. Erich Fromm spoke of these matters at some length: "Our capacity to choose changes constantly with our practice of life. The longer we continue to make the wrong decisions, the more our heart hardens; the more often we make the right decision, the more our heart softens - or better perhaps, comes alive! "

Personal observations: It is pretty clear reading all of the above that the person described as having been “possessed by the Jezebel spirit” (as opposed to mere everyday sinners who occasionally give in to it’s seduction - and the proceed to sin) has crossed that line between good and evil and is really overcome with evil. The distinguishing characteristics now seem to be their total inability to repent ... since repentance will take them back across that line, out of the clutches of the evil. The immediate survival of the “evil spirit”- now consuming them, relies on their NOT repenting, thus it guides them to go to extremes - to preserve it’s nest, extremes that dictate that “they are perfect and that any perceived wrongs are committed against them and not by them”, so there is really no reason to repent. Once firmly ensconced, this spirit viciously “guards it’s nest” fighting hard to avoid eviction – many times launching preemptive strikes. Family, friends, acquaintances and lovers are badly hurt and their lives so willingly sacrificed in order for this heinous (actually, “detestably ugly” would be a far better description) spirit to survive. Truth is twisted and “loved one’s” sacrificed to preserve “itself”. Ultimately, this spirit destroys it’s host, the person to whom it is mated, but not before it has found a new set of fertile “hosts to infect”- to consume, and so the cycle continues ... and new spiritual children are birthed and sent forth on their mission: “find and destroy” God’s prophets and people - to render them ineffective. The “Jezebel spirit” is just one of many evil spirits, but certainly it is one of the more detestable and vicious one’s there are. Some people will raise their eye-brows and roll their eyes at “all of the above”, BUT anybody who has come into contact with it winces at it’s very mention! It is easy to dismiss topics such as these as fanciful dreaming of over stimulated imaginations, but, live through an encounter with the Spirit of Jezebel ... only once, and you too will become a believer! If you are to utter a random prayer today, may I suggest: “Lord, let me never encounter the evil embodied within the “Spirit of Jezebel” – please let me never be it’s victim”. We pray God answers your prayers. You see, we know exactly what it is like, since we too have suffered greatly from this Spirit’s very vicious attacks ... and it was by God’s grace, and the love of His Son, our Savior, Jesus, that we escaped and that we continue to live free - from it’s evil. It’s not “someone else’s problem” as we all are either someone’s Dad, Mom, Son, Daughter, Brother or Sister - so any “Jezebel” has to be one of these things to someone ... and according to REVELATION, you may even find “her” in a Church, hiding out there for the cover and the advantage it gives, but not only there.

Caution: Please do NOT misuse this information to "willy-nilly" DEMONIZE anyone! Apply it only with the greatest of care and diligence - and then over a long period of time with as many independent and trained observers as possible, so that there is no danger of you or them being guilty of "transference" otherwise known as "the pot calling the kettle black - while trying hard to appear unblemished. Specifically, do not misuse it as an excuse for divorce, as Jesus' advise on the matter of divorce trumps this and any other information! Believe it or not, I actually heard of a Pastor who tried to use this information to start divorce proceedings against his wife - who did admit to having a "control problem". So who was it who alerted me to his actions? Would you believe it, his wife - pretending to be her own "girl-friend" and chastising me for publishing this information - which was then used against her ... pretty manipulative, I'd say! To her credit, in the end she did admit to this deception (though I immediately suspected it anyhow) and she did admit to having a "control problem" which she appeared willing to work on and get help for, so I'd say that there was definitely hope for her, as admitting anything bad pretty much categorizes a person as, at worst, "influenced by" (as we all are to some varying degree: 1% - 99.9%) this spirit, but NOT irretrievable "sold out" to it. In my opinion, the pastor clearly had a "hidden agenda" and I have included this story in the document to help them - not to hurt them. My advice to her: "Work on the control problem - it obviously is a serious problem!" ... and to the pastor: "Love your wife as Christ loves the Church. Patiently and lovingly work with her to help her to change", it is possible, and it takes time and a lot of support. Also, it's important to remember not to study this (or any evil) spirit "to death" - as that can really end up happening! Though it pays to be aware of evil ... do spend more time studying the many examples in the Bible of Good, than studying evil!

ADDENDUM: A Roman Catholic experience: April 30, 2001 "The Jezebel Spirit"

"The other high-powered spirit that's moving very rapidly and in tremendous power in the Church today is what we call the Jezebel spirit. You've probably heard of the Jezebel spirit. Jezebel is Satan's woman, so to speak, the flip side of Satan. Satan has this feminine dimension, but the irony of it is that there is nothing feminine about Jezebel, not at all, because she is totally masculine. It's all deceptive, but she will try to imitate Mary especially. She hates the woman, and in the Book of Revelation, we meet with her again. You'll see her in the Old Testament, but in the Book of Revelation, she shows up again. And so this battle is going to be very much between these two women, led by Our Lady and led by Jezebel.

Jezebel is very deceptive, and she moves in a feminine way many times. The way to spot her is she will always undermine authentic authority. If you're ever attempted to go against authentic authority, Jezebel could very well be getting her foot in the door. She has her foot in the door right now in the priesthood. She has her foot in the door at government level. She is controlling authentic authority everywhere, and she is very, very dangerous." Excerpt from Mother Nadine's "Desert Warfare," New Mexico, 1998

Editor's observations: God promised us, through the Prophet Ezekiel, that: "I will give you a shepherd from the family of my servant King David. All of you, both strong and weak, will have the same shepherd, and he will take good care of you. He will be your leader, and I will be your God. I, the Lord, have spoken." Well, Jesus is our shepherd ... our savior and the final chapter is already written. In it we see that Satan and his demons (including this one representing his so-called "feminine side") will finally be defeated. Until then, we have only to look around us to see that this spirit is "infecting" many of Jesus' followers and it's multiplying fast! The church of Thyatira is in full session, and the battle is on.. Being in denial is not an option. The spirit of Elijah has to return and the churches have to train and raise up an army of warriors to do battle with her. The third and final battle will be won, but not by us all letting Jezebel literally "get away with murder" - yet again! Are you going to sit on the fence or are you going to join the battle? If you are, on what side will Jesus think you are fighting? Now that you are alerted and better educated, realize that our very real and most dangerous enemy is not hiding in the hills of Afghanistan - though he certainly needs dealing with too. Our most dangerous enemy is right here amongst us - within our society, working covertly to destroy everything we hold dear - and just look at it's many victories to date! This study is a call to "arms" - But please remember, "we are not fighting against people made of flesh and blood, but against the evil rulers and authorities of the unseen world, against those mighty powers of darkness who rule this world, and against wicked spirits in the heavenly realms”, and you may want to read the rest starting at Ephesians 6:13. One of those is the queen spirit we call “the Jezebel spirit”. Let’s do to her what Jehu did. No negotiations, no mercy ... absolutely no tolerance! Examine how in our lives and churches and communities and countries we “tolerate Jezebel” ... then remember what Jesus says to us on this matter. We do need to train-up many “Elijahs” for these end-times - to call people to repentance and for the many spiritual battles ahead, BUT we also need a few “gladiators” - an unflinching “strike force”, a few “Jehus” as equally unflinching as Jezebel - but on God’s side ... only let’s train them to stay loyal to God. We do not wish them to loose their spiritual-compass again in their zeal to win this battle. Reading Revelation should leave no doubt in your mind on one thing ... Jesus is not a pacifist! The final war is very brutal and will make world wars and all the wars of history look like mere training exercises – and we know that Jesus wins! Now, do you know what God says about “fence-sitters” – those “lukewarm” followers? Well, they make God “sick to his stomach”. So, choose today whom ye shall serve ... the one and only God, or the Baals of this “new world order”, this “new age Christianity”, those political leaders and judges who promote same-sex marriage and abortion, who outlawed prayer in schools and the 10 commandments being displayed in public buildings – those who have pushed us “into the closet” while pulling everything previously in there out and placing it onto center-stage – in other words, those who show tolerance for everything but for God and Jesus and Their followers! We can simply no longer afford to “look the other way”! We must now stop trying to “negotiate” and be “tolerant”! Jezebel never has, did not and will never give any ground anyhow. Have we? Yes. Has it helped? No. Why should we continue to do so? Read Eph 6:13-18 and pray for any of our leaders calling God’s people to “war in the Spiritual realm”, for the enemy has seen their efforts too. Please pray for our family too, for the enemy hates us all and takes exception to the things we have studied together here. May the Lord God bless and protect you, your families and your churches, as you train for the final war and all its battles. Never ever try to fight this spirit in your own strength as we will lose any human-led struggle ... depend on Jesus Christ alone!

Unmasking the evil embodied within “The Spirit of Jezebel” (version: 10-Mar-2012)

About this Christian ministry ... an “Elijah ministry”:

“The Spirit of Jezebel“ - (A practical study-guide for Christians) is published as a (Free, not for profit) Christian learning resource, by Eureka Publishing - website: www.Low-Carb.us This ministry was at #1 on Google for the longest time when searching for information on Jezebel by “the spirit of Jezebel” something that really is due to this message being very important nowadays! We have never asked for donations (and to keep its credibility high, we never will). This ministry is entirely funded from of the proceeds of the Christian cookbook series showcased on one of our websites, www.Low-Carb.us which features 7 cookbooks (3 are now national bestsellers) for people struggling with their weight or with diabetes, or who wish to low-carb (5 books) or to follow a low-fat (2 books) or a low-sugar diet (7 books) or a low-sugar and low-fat (2 books) or a low-sugar and low-carb diet (5 books) or who are interested in low-calorie tasty desserts (3 books) or who would like unusual, tasty and easy to prepare meals (4 books). We encourage you to consider buying some or all of these books - which clearly many Christians hold in high esteem, since that helps fund this ministry! Interestingly, because of their unashamedly Christian stance, no publisher was interested in publishing these cookbooks – so “Eureka Publishing” was born. Then when the 1st book became a national bestseller (in about 7 months) a major publisher begged to publish book-2, which promptly became the worst seller of all of our books – until we bought back its rights from them, after which it performed just fine again. Well ... all praise does belong to the Lord! The latest version of “the Jezebel Spirit” will always be available free of charge for download at: www.Low-Carb.us. It may be FREELY downloaded, printed, photocopied and distributed - as long as this is done FREE OF CHARGE (or at worst charged out at 5c / page to cover reproduction costs) and it must be distributed in it’s entirety! Any inquiries should be directed to us (Eureka Publishing) at:Eureka.Publishing@GMAIL.com [Updated: Mar, 2012] 28 x (8.5 x 11) pages and frontcover – which (though it is quite an accurate depiction of “Queen Jezebel”- based on her characteristics described in the books of Kings) does show the briefest glimpse of part of her breast, so we do understand that may cause some to be offended. If that’s the case, you may omit, replace, censor with a black strip or do whatever it takes to make it acceptable enough to distribute to your church-family.

Closing comments: So, here are some tips to identifying the "Jezebel spirit" and the "Churches of Thyatira" where Jezebels reign – in which she is tolerated as a "prophetess". Can you find a few (so-called "Christian ministries) that are highly suspect? Do look carefully at the web-sites of any self-proclaimed Prophetesses ... we should, you know! Look carefully at how they promote themselves vs the great commission ... then ask yourself this question: "Would any of the biblical prophets have made such videos or done/said those self-promoting things?" Look at how many times God and Jesus are mentioned in those videos or on the web-pages of the website vs themselves – whether the thrust is to bring glory to God and Jesus – or to the so called "prophetess" herself? To test theory I viewed the video of one "self-proclaimed prophetess", Juanita, who has a very popular supposed Christian ministry. In this 2m54s video God is mentioned 3 times (but only to enhance her image) while she is mentioned 12 times directly (many more times with glowing accolades) ... but she never even once mentions Jesus! Go ahead, apply the knowledge you have learned here to see if you agree that this is (only) one (and not even a subtle one) Thyatiran Jezebel! By the way, I noticed that the button for "ONLINE GIVING" was Front, Top and Center on the home (main) page of her website, and that her picture, beguiling smile and logo/signature were prominently displayed – but the words "Jesus", "God", or a cross or anything identifying the site as promoting God's Kingdom, was nowhere in sight! Let's not start a "witch-hunt", but let's not forget that Jesus warned us about the church of Thyatira tolerating "that woman Jezebel" amongst them - so we should expect to find her active and present in churches! How about the USA's Episcopal church? Can you spot any Jezebel influenced politicians? How about their partner, "Ahab"? Often he is supposedly the "King". How about Judges issuing rulings that clearly foster Jezebel's causes? How about government laws helping Jezebel at the expense of God's people? We could be pretty busy documenting those! Now take a look at our TV programs. Look for: (1) Tolerance of witchcraft and paganism and intolerance of Christianity (2) Listen for any talk about the state legitimized murder of babies (abortion) and make a note of how many famous people are given very costly air-time to promote abortion! I mean really ... any business should be so lucky as to get all that costly free air-time! (3) Look for the blatantly casual indifference to sexual immorality and the promotion of homosexuality as perfectly "normal" - and the depiction of any who do not agree as "abnormal fundamentalist nut-cases". Well, all 30 major historical world civilizations generally went through several phases – and all of them fell soon after three conditions arose within them (1) Tolerance of witchcraft and paganism (2) State legitimized murder of babies (3) Indifference to sexual immorality and the state's promotion of homosexuality as "normal". So where exactly are we along this path? Do you too see the role the Jezebel Spirit is playing in the fall of our civilization? Should we stop it? Can we stop it? Should we cede victory to this heinous spirit out of apathy? Clearly the answers are: "YES", "YES" and "NO!" Hopefully we all are now informed enough to look more closely at Government and candidates for government, including and especially any judges, prosecutors, school board-members, church elders - anyone who is seeking to be placed, by us into a position of authority over us. The hatred of Christians is intensifying and the grip the media has on the morals of our nation and its opinions (even for long-standing Christians) is growing ever tighter. One of the best things you can do to stem the tide of Jezebel's influence over your own family, is to turn off, closely monitor or severely restrict TV viewing, and to monitor carefully how our families use the internet and what music they listen too. Movies and magazines hold their dangers too – but they are generally distinct events that can more easily be monitored. Not so TV and the internet or musical lyrics – all powerful tools of Satan's to ceaselessly promote his agenda and ratchet up the pressure on us all. What medium do you think promotes steps 1, 2, 3 most effectively? TV - followed closely by the internet, then music, movies, magazines and books. So what are you going to do about it? Now there are many secular (public) schools and universities, all levels of government and even courts that seem to do a pretty good job of "filling in the gaps" of Satan's agenda. So what are you going to do about them at election-time? Christians have to, wherever possible, stand united in this final battle! Apathy, fence-sitting or being distracted is not a useful option anymore. We must get actively involved in wresting ourselves free from the "demonic control" that our nations are now increasingly under! Here's a VIDEO about false prophets.